

imprisonment for any period not exceeding one calendar month.

XXIII. All persons, who deal in any articles by retail by weight or measure, and who have, in or about their shops or premises, or otherwise in their possession, any false or deficient weight, measure, beam or scale, shall be liable, on conviction before a Justice of the Peace, to a penalty, not exceeding twenty rupees, or, at the discretion of the said Justice, to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for any period not exceeding one calendar month; and every such false and defective weight, measure, beam or scale, shall be forfeited, and the said Justice shall cause the same to be destroyed; and it shall be lawful for the superintendent of police from time to time to issue public notices at the police office and thannahs, and such places as to him appear suitable of the exact weight and measure of just weights and measures, and to keep at the police office and thannahs standard weights and measures for the information of the public.

XXIV. Any Justice of the Peace may issue his warrant, directing any superintendent or head constable of police to enter into any shop or other place, where articles are bought and sold by retail, and to search for and to examine the weights and measures therein, and seize all such as he may suspect to be forfeited as false and deficient in weight.

XXV. If any seaman, whether British or Foreign, shall wilfully and without leave or lawful excuse, absent himself from his vessel, any Justice of the Peace, upon complaint upon oath and at the instance of any of the officers of the said vessel, may issue his warrant to apprehend and detain the said seaman, and convey him on board of his vessel, and whenever any seaman shall have been imprisoned, it shall be lawful for any Justice of the Peace, on the release of such seaman from imprisonment, to cause him to be conveyed on board of the vessel to which he may belong, and all bond fide expenses incurred in so doing, shall be made good by the Commander of such vessel, and in failure of paying the bill for the same, on presentation, the said Justice of the Peace may issue his warrant to levy the amount of the same by distress on the said vessel in the manner laid down in Section XXXIX of this Act.

XXVI. The superintendent of police at each station, from time to time, and on occasion may require, may make regulations for keeping clear the public ghauts and landing stairs, and for the route to be observed in the public streets and places by all carts, carriages, palanquins, hackeries and other vehicles, and by all horses, cattle and persons, and as to the times during which they may take the said routes, and for preventing obstruction of the streets and thoroughfares within the town on all times of public processions and native holidays, as also during the time of Divine Service, and also may give directions to the constables and other peace officers for keeping order, and for preventing any obstruction of the thoroughfares in the immediate neighbourhood of any place of public resort, and in any case when the ghauts, landing stairs, streets or thoroughfares may be thronged, or may be liable to be obstructed, and every person opposing, or not obeying the orders so issued by the superintendent of police at each station, shall be liable to be arrested and detained by the police, and on conviction before a Justice of the Peace, shall be liable to a penalty of one hundred rupees.

XXVII. Any police officer or constable who shall ask for or take any bribe, or unauthorized reward, in consideration of his doing or omitting to do any act in his official capacity, shall be liable, on conviction before a Justice of the Peace, to a penalty, not exceeding five hundred rupees, or, at the discretion of the said Justice, to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for any time not exceeding three months.

XXVIII. Any person who shall, within the limits of the said Settlement, manufacture gunpowder or gun-cotton, or who shall, without a license for that purpose, being first had and obtained from the sitting Magistrate of the station, have in his possession, in any house, shop, warehouse, or other building, at any one time, a greater quantity of gunpowder or gun-cotton for sale, or otherwise, than ten pounds, shall, on conviction before a Justice of the Peace, be liable to a forfeiture of all such gunpowder or gun-cotton so manufactured or possessed, together with the vessel or receptacle in which it may be seized, and also to a fine, not exceeding in amount the sum of rupees five hundred.

XXIX. It shall be lawful for the sitting Magistrate to grant to any person (whom he shall deem fit and proper) a license for the sale or keeping in deposit, within the limits of the said Settlement, any quantity of imported or Indian manufactured gunpowder not exceeding fifty pounds, or any quantity of gun-cotton, not exceeding twenty pounds, on such conditions as shall be specified in the license, and any person who shall be guilty of a breach of any of such conditions, shall, on conviction before a Justice of the Peace, be liable to a forfeiture of his license, and of all gunpowder or gun-cotton kept in deposit contrary thereto, and not to be returned.

XXX. Every such license as in the preceding Section, shall be in force for one year and to contain certain provisions, and no longer, but shall be renewable by the said sitting Magistrate at his discretion, on the same or any other terms and conditions, and such license shall also provide for the transit and carrying of gunpowder from one place to another within the limit of the said Settlement, in such manner and in such quantity as shall be deemed advisable for the safety of the inhabitants, and of property within the said Settlement, and every person offending against such provisions, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding rupees fifty.

XXXI. Any Justice of the Peace, on credible information laid before him, on oath or solemn affirmation, that any person has in his possession, or is suspected to be storing, kept or possessed by any person, any gunpowder or gun-cotton, or mixed materials for making the same contrary to the provisions of this Act, are suspected to be stored, kept or possessed by any person, may issue his warrant, authorizing any police officer to search in the day time any house, shop, magazine, or other building or place, in which he has reasonable ground to suspect any gunpowder or gun-cotton to be manufactured, sold or kept, or any boat, carriage, cart or other vehicle, in which any gunpowder or gun-cotton, or materials for manufacturing the same, may be suspected to be carried, or any person suspected of carrying the same contrary to such license, or to the provisions of this Act: and all gunpowder, gun-cotton, or materials for manufacturing the same, found on such search, shall, together with the vessels or receptacles in which they may be stored, be immediately seized, and brought before a Justice of the Peace, with whom the same shall be kept till it shall be adjudged whether the same shall be forfeited.

XXXII. The four last preceding Sections shall not extend to any Government Magazine, or store or building for the making or deposit of gunpowder or gun-cotton, under the authority, or for the use of the Government, or to any gunpowder, or gun-cotton, for the use of Her Majesty's or the East India Company's Troops, or otherwise for the Service of Government, or to any of Her Majesty's vessels of war, or the vessels of the Indian Navy, or of the East India Company's Marine, or to any other Vessel within the ports of the station laden with gunpowder for importation or exportation.

XXXIII. Commanders of vessels, entering any of the ports of the said Settlement shall within hours after anchoring, deposit in a Magazine, or place of deposit duly licensed for the purpose, all gunpowder that may be on board such vessel, exceeding the quantity of fifty pound, when intended for sale, or for the use of the vessel, and such gunpowder shall remain in such Magazine, until the sailing of the said vessel unless sold for exportation, when a written application shall be made to the sitting Magistrate of the station for permission to remove the same, which permission shall be given except where the exportation of ammunition shall require, under Act XVIII. of 1811, a license from a public officer, when the said license must accompany the application; and for the same or omitted to be done contrary to this Section by the Commander of the vessel in the ports of the Settlement, the Commander aforesaid shall, on conviction thereof before any Justice of the Peace, be liable to a penalty, not exceeding two hundred rupees; and the Harbour Master of the port is hereby empowered to search for any quantity of gunpowder, which he may have reason to believe to be on board a merchant vessel in such port, contrary to the provisions of this Act, and to seize and detain it as forfeited to Government, to be dealt with as the Governor of the Straits Settlement shall think right to direct.

XXXIV. Every officer belonging to the police is hereby authorized to arrest, without a warrant, any person committing in his view any offence against this Act, and every person taken into custody without warrant by any officer of the police, shall be forthwith taken to the station-house to which the officer belongs, in order that such person may be detained until he can be brought before a Justice of the Peace to be dealt with according to law, or in order that such person may give bail for his appearance before a Justice of the Peace, if the superintendent, or constable at the station, shall deem it prudent to take bail, in the manner hereinafter mentioned, which he is hereby authorized to do.

XXXV. Whenever any person is brought to the station-house as aforesaid, charged with misdemeanor, assault, or with having carelessly done any hurt or damage, or whenever any superintendent or constable in charge of a police lock-up, shall deem it probable that any person so brought is falsely or maliciously charged with having committed a felony, and any such person as aforesaid shall be, without the warrant of a Magistrate, in the custody of any constable of the police, it shall be lawful for the superintendent of police, if he shall deem it prudent, to enlarge such person on his own recognizance, with or without sureties, conditioned as hereinafter mentioned.

XXXVI. Every recognizance so taken shall be without fee or reward, and shall be conditioned for the appearance of the person thereby bound before a Justice of the Peace at his next sitting, and the time and place of appearance, and the sum thereby acknowledged (not exceeding one thousand rupees), shall be specified in the said recognizance, or the condition thereof, and the officer taking the recognizance, shall enter into a book to be kept for the purpose, the name, residence and occupation of the party, and his surety or sureties (if any) entering into such recognizance, together with the condition thereof, and the sum thereby acknowledged, and shall return every such recognizance to the Justice present at the time and place, and when and where the party is bound to appear, and the said recognizance may be in either of the forms as the case may be in Schedule (A) to this Act annexed, or to the like effect.

XXXVII. In every case in which any person shall be given in charge to a constable, or in which any information or complaint of any offence shall be laid or made before any Justice of the Peace, and it shall appear to the Justice by whom the case shall be heard that there was no sufficient ground for making the charge, it shall be lawful for such Justice, at his discretion, to award such amends, not more than the sum of fifty rupees, to be paid by the informer to the party informed or complained against, for his loss of time and expenses in the matter, as to the Justice shall seem meet.

XXXVIII. Every Justice of the Peace shall be empowered summarily to hear and determine every complaint of an offence committed against this Act, and to convict any person charged with any such offence on the oath of one or more witnesses, or by his own confession, and to award the penalty or punishment herein provided for such offence.

XXXIX. Upon any information or complaint to be laid or made before any Justice of the Peace (which complaint need not be made upon oath) of any matter, which such Justice is authorized to hear and determine, either under this or any other Act or Regulation, he may summon the party charged, and if such party shall not appear according to the tenor of the summons, the Justice, upon proof of the service of the summons, may proceed, in all cases which are not of a criminal nature, if no sufficient cause shall be shown for the non-appearance of the party, to hear and determine the case in the absence of the party, and in all criminal cases shall issue his warrant for apprehending and bringing such party before him, or some other Justice, in order that the said information and complaint may be heard and determined.

XI. Every such summons may be served, by delivering it, or a copy thereof, to the party, or to his wife, servant, or some inmate of his dwelling, or by delivering it at, or affixing it to, the door or wall of his usual place of abode.

XII. A Justice of the Peace may, without issuing any summons, forthwith issue his warrant for the apprehension of any person charged with any offence cognizable before him, either under this or any other Act or Regulation, whenever good grounds for so doing shall be stated on oath before him.

XIII. Any Justice may summon any witness to appear and give evidence upon the matter of any offence cognizable before him, either under this or any other Act or Regulation, with which any person shall be charged before him, at a time and place appointed for hearing the information or complaint, and by warrant under his hand and seal, may require any person to be brought before him, who shall neglect or refuse to give evidence at the time and place appointed on such summons, proof upon oath being first given of personal service of the summons upon the person against whom such warrant shall be granted, and such Justice may commit any person coming or brought before him, who shall refuse to give evidence, to the common jail of the station, for any time not exceeding fourteen days, or until such person shall sooner submit himself to be examined, and in case of such submission the order of such Justice shall be a sufficient warrant for the discharge of such person.

XIV. When any Justice of the Peace is desirous of examining any prisoner confined in the jail or house of correction as a witness or defendant, with respect to any charge, case or proceeding pending before him, it shall be lawful for such Justice to issue an order in the form contained in Schedule (B) to this Act annexed, or to the like effect, addressed to the keeper or governor of the said jail or house of correction, requiring him to bring such prisoner in proper custody, at a time to be therein named, to the police office for examination, and the keeper or governor of the said jail or house of correction, on the receipt of such order, shall act in accordance therewith, and shall take care for the safe custody of the prisoner during his absence from prison for the purpose aforesaid.

XV. If any person when under examination upon oath, or solemn affirmation, before any Justice of the Peace, shall prevaricate, or wilfully conceal the truth, it shall be lawful for such Justice of the Peace then and there, in a summary manner, in open court, to adjudge the person so offending to forfeit a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees, or to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for any period not exceeding one month; and the sentence awarding such penalty or imprisonment shall set forth the nature of such offence in general terms only.

XVI. In cases of contempt of court, or of resisting or obstructing the officers of the law, when in attendance at any police court or other open court presided over by a Justice of the Peace, it shall be lawful for the Justice of the Peace presiding, of his own motion, summarily, and without complaint or information made or laid, to adjudge the person so offending to forfeit a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees, or to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for any period not exceeding one month, and the sentence awarding such penalty or imprisonment shall set forth the nature of such offence in general terms only.

XVII. No person, not being a soldier or sailor in the service of the Queen, or the East India Company, or a constable belonging to the police of the Settlement shall be entitled to carry any sword, spear, gun, or other offensive weapon in any street, thoroughfare, or public place, unless by leave of the sitting Magistrate, or other head of the police; and any person offending against this enactment shall be liable to be disarmed by any constable or other person acting under such instructions as shall be from time to time given by the sitting Magistrate, or other head of the police, and the weapons so seized shall be taken before the sitting Magistrate or other head of the police, and forfeited to the Government, if the sitting Magistrate, or other head of the police, in his discretion, shall think fit to declare them forfeited.

XVIII. All penalties and forfeitures and other sums of money imposed, awarded, or ordered to be paid by any Justice of the Peace, under the authority of this Act, and all sums of money, which any person is bound to pay under any recognizance taken before a Justice of the Peace or an Officer of Police empowered to take recognizances by this Act, and afterwards forfeited, in case of non-payment thereof, may be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the offender or person liable to pay the same, by warrant under the hand of any Justice of the Peace, and in case any such penalty or forfeiture, or sum of money, shall not be forthwith paid, any Justice may order the party to be detained in safe custody until the return can be conveniently made to such writ of distress, unless such party shall give security to the satisfaction of such Justice for the payment of the same at such place and time as shall be specified in the return of the warrant or. Justice may take such security, by recognizance or otherwise; and if upon the return of such warrant it shall appear that no such sufficient distress could be had whereon to levy the said penalty or forfeiture, or sum of money, and the same shall not be forthwith paid, or in case it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Justice, by the confession of the party or otherwise, that he has not sufficient goods and chattels whereupon such penalty, forfeiture or sum of money could be levied if warrant of distress should be issued, the Justice, by warrant under his hand, may commit such party to the common jail of the station, there to remain for any time not exceeding two calendar months.

XIX. No conviction, order or judgment of any Justice of the Peace, shall be quashed for error of form or procedure, but only on the merits, and it shall not be necessary to state on the face of the conviction, order or judgment, the evidence on which it proceeds, but the depositions taken, or a copy of them, shall be returned with the conviction, order or judgment, in obedience to any writ of certiorari, and if no jurisdiction appears on the face of the conviction, order or judgment, but the depositions taken supply that defect, the conviction, order or judgment shall be aided by what so appears in such depositions.

XLIX. In the construction of this Act the following words and expressions shall have the several meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something in the context or subject repugnant to such construction, that is to say:—

Words importing the singular number only shall include the plural, and words importing the plural number only shall include the singular.

Words importing the masculine gender only shall include females.

The word "Justice," or "Justices of the Peace," shall mean the Justices of the Peace for the time being, acting within and for the several stations of the Settlement of the Straits of Malacca.

The word "oath," shall mean any oath or solemn affirmation in lieu of an oath.

Port William, Home Department, Legislative,
The 3rd June, 1853.

The following Draft of a proposed Act was read in Council for the first time on the 3rd of June, 1853.

ACT No. — of 1853.

An Act for the better Assessment of the Tax upon Shops and Stalls in Bombay, and for facilitating the Collection thereof.

It is hereby enacted, that from and after the passing of this Act, the powers of Assessing and Collecting the Assessment on Shops and Stalls which under Act XI. of 1845, Section V., are vested in the Collector of Land Revenue of Bombay and persons appointed by him, shall and may be exercised by any person or persons whom the Governor in Council of Bombay may from time to time appoint to Assess and Collect the same, and his and their appointees, and that wherever in the said Section of the said Act, the words "Collector of Land Revenue" or the word "Collector" are used, such words shall hereafter be deemed to mean the person or persons so to be appointed by the said Governor in Council.

II. Sections XIV. and XV. of Regulation XIX. of 1827 of the Bombay Code shall be held to be applicable to any Assessment under Section V.
Act XI. of 1845 aforesaid, and to any Assessment hereafter to be made under the provisions of the said Section and of this Act, and also to be applicable to the recovery and levying of any arrears of any such Assessment as in this Section is above mentioned, which shall be demanded after the passing of this Act and to the commitment of any defaulter in the same manner and to the same extent in all respects as if any such Assessment here-inbefore mentioned had become due by virtue of the said Regulation, save and except that any Justice of the Peace at Bombay, whether he be the Collector of Land Revenue or not, may act under the Provisions of those Sections, although the Collector of Land Revenue may be a Justice of the Peace; and that the word

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 15, 1853

From William, Home Department, Legislature.

The 10th June, 1853.

The following Extract from the Proceedings of the Governor General of India in Council, in the Executive Branch of the Home Department, under date the 10th June, 1853, is published for general information:

Read and secondly the Draft of a proposed Act dated the 25th November, 1852, and published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 10th November 1852, for the amendment of Procedure in cases of appeal to the Sudder Courts in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal.

Resolved—The Governor General in Council resolves that the following revised Draft on the subject be published for general information:

Act No. — of 1853.

An Act for the amendment of Procedure in cases of appeal to the Sudder Courts in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal.

WHEREAS it is desirable to simplify and shorten the procedure and modes of pleading in the Sudder Courts of Sudder Dewanny Adawlat in the said Presidency: It is enacted as follows:

I. Act IV. 1850, and Sections II., III. and IV., Act XXX. 1850, are hereby repealed, except as to appeals presented before the passing of this Act.

II. Every petition of regular appeal in a case appealable to the Sudder Court shall be presented to the Court in which the decision was passed within six weeks from the day of the decision; unless the Sudder Court shall, upon sufficient cause shown, extend the time for presenting such appeal. Each petition of appeal shall contain only notice that the party being dissatisfied with the judgment, is desirous of appealing from it, except in cases of petitions under Section XIII. of this Act.

III. On presentation of a petition of regular appeal to the Court, in which the decision was passed, notice thereof to the respondent, as well as a proclamation to the same effect, shall immediately issue from that Court. If the notice cannot be personally served, the proclamation shall be done by being fixed upon the door of the respondent's dwelling-house, or in some conspicuous place in the village where he usually resides; or in cases in which the respondent may not have a fixed residence within the jurisdiction of the Company's Courts, the proclamation may be fixed upon the door of his house of business or warehouse, or the notice may be served on his known local Agent. In case the proclamation cannot be fixed or served in the manner abovementioned, it shall be affixed in the Court House of the said last mentioned Court, and also in such other place, if any, as the said last mentioned Court shall direct. The appellant shall return the order of notice or proclamation, with an endorsement, stating at what times and places it may have been served or fixed up. The return of the nazar is to be filed in Court, and to form a part of the record of the trial.

IV. The Rule in Section XI. Regulation VI. 1793, which directs copies of all original papers transmitted to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlat with the record of an appealed case to be made out and deposited in the Court in lieu of the originals, is hereby modified, and it shall be necessary to copy only the exhibits and any papers of importance which either of the parties may specify, including pleadings, or any parts of them which may be required by either of the parties.

V. The appeal record shall be carried to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlat as soon as conveniently may be after the presentation of the petition of appeal.

VI. On arrival of the appeal record at the Sudder Court, notice shall be affixed in the Court House of the Sudder Dewanny Adawlat, or given in such form and manner as that Court shall order by a Rule to be framed under Section II. of XVII. 1841, requiring the appellant, to file within four weeks from the date thereof his grounds of objection to the decision of the Court below. Within the said space of four weeks the appellant shall file in the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlat his grounds of objection to the decision. Such grounds of objection shall be stated distinctly and concisely without any argument or narrative of facts; they shall be numbered consecutively, and shall be on paper, bearing the stamp duty prescribed by Article 3, Schedule B, Regulation X. 1820. On failure to file the grounds of objection within the said space of four weeks, the appeal shall be dismissed, unless the appellant shall show reasonable cause to the satisfaction of the Court, or his default, in which case the Court may allow him to file his grounds of objection within such further time as the Court may order. A separate paper, containing declaration in support of the grounds of objection may, at the option of the appellant, be filed on plain paper within the said period of four

11. With the filing of the statement of objection, a respondent, but no shall be given to the respondent in the manner prescribed by the provisions of section of the Act, requiring him to file his grounds of objection, if any, to the decision within four weeks from the day of such notice, and any grounds of objection to the decision whether or not to give the applicant an order of admission shall be filed by the applicant or not, any be filed by the respondent within the said period of four weeks, or within such further time as the Superior Court may allow for and entered upon a reasonable cause shown to the satisfaction of the Court for such extension of time.

VIII. At the expiration of such last mentioned space of four weeks, or of such extended time as may be allowed by the Court as last aforesaid, the cause shall be considered complete, and the cause shall be for hearing. The grounds of objection, if any, which shall be filed by the respondent, shall be stated distinctly and concisely, without any argument or narrative of facts; they shall be numbered consecutively, and shall be on paper bearing the stamp then prescribed by Article V, Schedule B, Resolution X, 1829;

1. If any of the grounds of objection filed by the respondent shall not be involved in the appeal, or the grounds filed by the appellant, but would be the ground of a separate petition of appeal, by the respondent, such grounds of objection shall be disposed of, before, in addition to the stamp above mentioned on the stamp, which would have been required in a separate petition of appeal filed by the respondent, unless the appellant shall have presented a separate petition of appeal in the same. Provided that, if the suit in appeal be referred to the further investigation and decision, without opinion, not on the merits of the case, the last mentioned stamp duty paid by the respondent shall be returned to him in the same manner as if such stamp duty had been paid on a separate petition of appeal.

X. In previous cases, containing detailed references to the grounds of a writ filed by the petitioner in answer to the denial of writs of habeas, and by the appellant, may in the opinion of the government be filed as an appendix to the record of the writs referred to, filing the appendices as motions, or rather, such further motions as they are allowed by the Court to make, under the statute.

41. The Court party may, at the leave of the Sudder Court, on any day, at any time before the hearing, demand his opponent's affidavit, or other grounds of appeal, or those filed by, or on behalf of, the other party, and within such time as the Court or Judge may order. The said Court may also require the party to any appeal to show other grounds of appeal, or his grounds of objection, or to show the error therein, or to show and be heard by himself or his valuer in support of any objection to the valuation, or in objection to his grounds of objection, upon such facts and comments as to postponement of the cause, and as to the payment of costs, or otherwise, as the Court may think just, to prevent the opposite party or his valuer from being taken by surprise or otherwise. Without application of the Court another party shall be allowed to urge or be heard in support of any objection not contained in the facts of objection filed; but the Court shall not be bound to receive such objection or to hear the cause.

Ninth, the government's contention that the National Labor Relations Board is not an independent law-enforcement agency is also unpersuasive. The Supreme Court, upon its creation in 1789, granted the power to the federal government to enforce its laws, and this has been the function of the federal government ever since. The Board is an independent agency of the federal government, and it is the duty of the federal government to enforce the laws of the United States. The Board's decision in the Beck case is a clear violation of the National Labor Relations Act, and it is the duty of the federal government to enforce the law. The Board's decision is a clear violation of the law, and it is the duty of the federal government to enforce the law. The Board's decision is a clear violation of the law, and it is the duty of the federal government to enforce the law.

XIII. Appeals by parties shall be preferred in all respects as a matter of course, except that the grounds of objection to the decision of the Board shall be stated in the minutes, set forth, noted, and written on plain paper and presented within four weeks from the date of promulgation to appeal as a paper. If referred to the President the appeal shall be presented, then set or presented within the same four weeks.

1417. This appeal be presented upon points of law only, without disputing any of the facts found by the arbitrator of the Lower Court, the appellant may give notice of his intention to do so upon points of law only, without disputing the points in the petition, nor so as to deprive the bar from any appeal under the facts. It is sufficient, in an appeal under the Statute, that an appeal against the arbitrator be upon any document in the Court below, the giving notice of such intention, in his petition of appeal, in order that the documents may be taken into the Sadler Devising Affidavit, and thus give notice to give the appellant such and so a liberty to controvert the legal conclusions upon such document in the Court below. The petition of appeal, however, shall merely state the intention of the appellant, but need not state the objection to the construction of any document. An appeal under this Statute may be specially limited to the making the said Affidavit as an appeal of law only. An appeal shall not be necessary to be made to the Sadler Devising Affidavit, as a point of law raised in the Lower Court, except the appeal to the Court and the parties agree to the order of notice or proclamation of appeal, and any document of which the appellant may, in his petition of appeal, give notice of his intention to dispute the legal construction as above intended. It is ordered, that, before this Statute shall be bound to make a change in the Statute relating Affidavit within six weeks from the giving notice, in the petition of the proclamation of appeal in the manner provided by section 11 of the Act. At the expiration of the said space of six weeks, the Sadler Devising Affidavit of the appellant shall cease to be a ground for the hearing and decision of the appeal, upon questions of law, to be heard before it, with regard to the point or points to be argued, in any question of law, if an appeal is made in the Court, and the Court shall also decide for the parties to bring a final and effectual appeal of correction.

XX. In any appeal or application for review of any order, the respondent shall have the right to depose, during any question of fact, the party may have the right to depose the party, in the first instance, in the manner provided in the last preceding Section, and if the deposition is taken upon the points of law, shall remain the same to determine the question on review of the party shall send for the deposition to the court and the case shall be set down for hearing on the list of regular appeals for decision upon such facts as are found of fact, and shall be heard and upon such objection as the court may see fit to allow on such objection.

XVI. Upon the hearing of any appeal, the Court shall give judgment according to the justice of the case, without regard to any technical error or defect which it does not affect the merits.

XVII. This Act extends only to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal.

And it is enacted, that the Draft may read be read and considered at the first Meeting of the Legislative Council of India, after the 10th day of July next.

J. P. GRANT,

Secy. to the Govt. of India.

Fort William, Home Department, Legislative,
The 10th June, 1853.

The following Draft of a proposed Act was read in Council for the first time on the 10th of June 1853:

Act — of 1853.

An Act for amending the law of special appeals.

I. A. No. III. of 1843, is hereby repealed, except as to cases in which a petition for appeal shall have been presented before the time fixed for the commencement of this Act.

II. If any application for a special appeal shall have been presented before the time fixed for the commencement of this Act, and no order shall have been passed thereon before the time so fixed, such application shall be heard and determined in the same manner as an appeal presented under this Act, and all the provisions of this Act shall extend to such application and to the hearing thereof, and to all subsequent proceedings thereon, and also to the hearing and determination of the appeal if the same shall be admitted.

III. If any such application shall have been presented and the appeal admitted before the time so fixed as abovementioned, the appeal shall be heard and determined according to the provisions of the said Act No. III. of 1843, except that the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlat, or the Court of Sudder Adawlat, as the case may be, shall determine the appeal without reference to any points certified, and may call for or refer to any part of the proceedings which may be necessary.

IV. A special appeal shall lie to the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlat at Calcutta, Aggra and Bombay, respectively, and to the Court of Sudder Adawlat at Madras, from any decision passed on regular appeal in any of the Civil Courts subordinate to the said Sudder Courts respectively, on any of the following grounds, to-wit:

1st. On the ground that the decision hath failed and decided all matters in difference in the case, or hath determined the same, or any of them contrary to law or usage having the force of law.

2nd. On the ground of a misapprehension of the law.

3rd. On the ground of any substantial error or defect in procedure, or in the investigation of the case, provided such error or defect be apparent on the record, and shall have produced, or be likely to have produced any error or defect in the decision of the case upon the merits. Provided always that no such special appeal shall be admitted by any such decision be reversed, or shall be allowed by any of the said Sudder Courts, upon the ground that the decision of any question of fact is contrary to or not warranted by the evidence in the cause, or any proceeding deduced from the record.

V. A special appeal shall not be admitted until a petition be presented to the proper Sudder Court within three months from the date of the decision appealed against, or unless the petitioner can show just and reasonable cause to the satisfaction of the said Sudder Court for not having presented it within such limited period, and every such petition shall be accompanied by copies of the several decrees previously passed in the case.

VI. Every petition for a special appeal shall set forth concisely and under distinct heads the particular grounds on which the application is made.

VII. The said Sudder Courts shall cause lists of the petitions, which shall be presented for the admission of special appeals to be prepared weekly, and to be affixed in the Court houses of the said Sudder Courts respectively. The said lists shall set forth the dates on which such petitions are likely to be brought on for hearing, and the said Sudder Courts shall cause extracts from the said lists to be transmitted to the Courts in which the decisions on regular appeal were passed; such extracts shall be affixed in some conspicuous place in the last mentioned Courts, and extracts therefrom shall be transmitted by such Courts to the Courts in which the original suits were instituted, and such last mentioned extracts shall be affixed in some conspicuous place in the said last mentioned Courts. The time to be fixed by the Sudder Court for the hearing of any petition shall not be less than six weeks from the date of despatch of the extracts referring to the same from the Sudder Court.

VIII. It shall be lawful for the said Sudder Courts, or any one or more of the Judges thereof, respectively, to hear applications for special appeals, duly presented as aforesaid, in the presence of the appellant, or his advocate, and the respondent, or his advocate, or such of them as shall attend, and a shall be competent for the said Court, or for such Judge or Judges thereof, to call for and peruse any document forming a part of the record of the cause, or to order the amendment of the petition of special appeal forthwith, or within such time as they or he may order, not exceeding one month from the date of such order; or to make an order of reference to the Court which pronounced the decree appealed from for further information or explanation; or to reject or admit such special appeal; or it shall appear that the facts have not been judicially recorded, or that the case is otherwise so circumstanced that the Sudder Court could not, if the appeal were admitted, as a final decree thereon, do justice in bringing setting forth the errors, irregularities, or other delays in the decision appealed against, and remitting the same to the Court by which the case shall have been passed, in order that such decision may be reviewed by the last mentioned Court and such order, or decree passed thereon, may be conformable to law. Provided always that no such remand shall be ordered as aforesaid, except upon grounds warranting a special appeal under this Act. If any such application shall be heard by only two Judges, and they differ in opinion as to admitting the appeal, it shall be admitted.

NOTIFICATION.

FORT WILLIAM,

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT, THE 4TH JANUARY, 1853.

THE Most Noble the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that the following Extracts from Despatches relative to recent operations in the neighbourhood of Pegu, shall be published for general information.

The Governor General in Council has to express his approbation of the alacrity and spirit with which this harassing duty has been performed; and his sense of the services of the Major General Commanding, and of the Officers whose names he has specially brought to the notice of His Lordship in Council, in the Despatch of the 24th ultimo.

The Governor General in Council particularly desires to record his high approbation of the gallant conduct of Major Hill, of the Madras Fusiliers, and of the Officers and Men under his command, in their defence of the position they held at Pegu.

By Order of the Most Noble the Governor General of India in Council,

C. ALLEN,

Officiating Secretary to the Government of India.

Extract from a Despatch from Major General Godwin, C. B., Commanding Troops in Ava, Arracan, and Tenasserim Provinces, dated 24th December 1852, No. 22

In my last Despatch from Pegu, dated the 15th instant, after having relieved it from the Enemy, I had the honor of informing you for the information of the Governor General in Council, that it was my intention to advance into the country, and free that Garrison from the near position of the Burmese Army.

At that time I had been informed they were at Lephangoon, but from subsequent information, I found them entrenched and entrenching themselves in great numbers on a plain about four miles North of the Pagoda, at a place called Kaleetut. It took till the 17th instant to procure what little carriage was available for the Commissariat stores, when eighteen buffalo hackeries were prepared to contain six days' provisions.

The Troops left the Pagoda about 7 o'clock A. M. on that date, to the amount of about 1,200 Men, consisting of about 600 of the Bengal Fusiliers, under Lieutenant Colonel Tudor; 150 of the Madras Fusiliers, under Captain Renaud; 300 Sikhs under Major Armstrong, and 100 of the 10th Bengal Native Infantry, under Captain Muir. I had no guns, for I had no means of drawing them. We had to pass through a very thick jungle for about two miles, when we debouched on a noble plain, miles in extent, covered with ripe paddy. We then had a good view of the position of the Enemy and their probable numbers. They were admirably posted behind an entrenchment with a battie: large spars formed their breastwork, and it appeared to be about a mile long, filled with masses of men, a few hundreds of the Gany horse, some elephants, and a few guns.

It was from this post that the men were furnished to invest our Garrison at Pegu. From my force I had to give a baggage-guard of 200 men; with the remainder I quietly advanced on their position, inclining to my own right to threaten their left, which was open, their right being supported by a large tops of trees, and flanked by a thick jungle. They fired a gun occasionally as we advanced, and from their quiet and determined attitude behind their strong defences, with at least ten men for one of mine, I had great expectation that they would stand our assault. These men were from the Garrisons of Sheogyne, Sitang, and Beling, had been very active in giving constant alarms to Martaban and Moulmein, and had the character too of being men who would fight, and some of these men had been killed on the walls in their assaults on Pegu.

When I was within about 400 yards of their position, I detached 200 men of the Bengal Fusiliers, under Major Seaton, to drive in two outposts in front of the right of their position, for I changed my mind, and determined to attack them upon their right, in the hope of our meeting. Major Seaton very soon performed this service, the Enemy retiring upon their main entrenchments, exchanging musketry.

I now formed the columns of attack. Major Seaton's party of the Bengal Fusiliers and Major Armstrong with his Sikhs to attack the top, with two companies of the Bengal Fusiliers under Lieut. Lambert, but attached to Major Armstrong's column.

I stopped Major Seaton's attack, seeing that they had loaded the jungle, which his left flank would have had to pass in gaining the top, with hundreds of men.

I had strong reserves close up, and ready to assist in the assault. It was a very interesting sight to see our little columns moving up to the attack of this host of people, so strongly posted, and in a plain where every object was visible. I was so confident we should get in amongst them, that when the smoke cleared away after the impetuosity of the attack, it was like magic, their escaping us. The Sikhs at the top were like lightning at them, and Lieutenant Lambert, who had thrown his column in the very flank of the long entrenchment close to the top, would have prevented their firing except on each other, and I believe the rapidity with which the advance closed upon them, threw them off all guard, and they considered flight their only safety.

After the action the Troops rested in the shade of the top for an hour: we then proceeded on to Lephangoon, a distance of 10 miles, which we reached at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 4 P. M., marching altogether about 14 miles. This is the largest and finest village I have seen in the country, with a great many excellent farm-houses in it: it stands on both sides of the river, which is here fordable, and is surrounded by fine plains covered with grain.

We were aware that the Enemy had retreated on this village, but they left it on our approach, and the Force found good quarters for the night.

The village was totally abandoned: not a soul was seen, nor grain to be found in it, which I had trusted to for the followers; so they fell back on the Commissariat, which I could with difficulty spare them, and this, added to the breaking down of one of our carts with beef and biscuit, crippled me much.

The next day, the 18th instant, we marched to Montsanganon, ten miles, where we arrived about 12 o'clock noon; there the Enemy had passed the night. It is an inconsiderable village, and we were in bivouac.

About 3 o'clock P. M. I was informed that some of the Enemy were hovering about, whom I believed were only observing us, but shortly they came down in large masses, and formed in a line about two miles in our front.

Our men were soon under arms, and I marched towards them in two separate columns of an equal division of the Force under my command. Brigadier General Steel took charge of the left column, and Lieut. Colonel Tudor of the right. Skirmishers were thrown out on both sides, but as we advanced they retired for about two miles further, when they took up an alignment close to a long range of barracks, which they had evidently occupied on different occasions. The two columns threw out advanced parties for attack, but as we neared them they again retired, leaving the barracks in our possession. It was now nearly dark, and as they appeared to be going away altogether, we burnt their barracks and retired to our bivouac, three miles, where our baggage and followers had remained under a strong guard.

The next day, the 19th instant, on inquiry into the state of the Commissariat, I found I had not quite three days' provisions left, and very deficient in some articles, and it became imperative on me to return to Pegu, which I did that day. Had I had the means of carrying with me 12 days' provisions I would have pursued them over the Sitang River, but I am sadly crippled everywhere for want of carriage, except at Rangoon, where I do not require it.

I propose to detach Brigadier General Steel with a Force to Moulmein, where he will find every description of carriage in abundance for tents, and material of all kinds—to proceed to Beling Sitang, and Sheogyne, and crossing that river to return by Pegu to Rangoon, as he may deem practicable—which may force this Army North towards Prome—which it must I think, as it cannot go to Pegu, and which will be the best course for us it can take.

I embarked at Pegu on the 20th, and arrived on the morning of the 22nd, leaving a reinforcement with the Garrison at Pegu, and strengthening their party of Sappers as a temporary measure, to allow of their putting themselves in a perfect state of defence.

Now, Sir, I have to ask the estimation of the Governor General in Council for a service that has been most harassing and arduous, and for which no Force ever took the field so little prepared, but which was borne with a cheerfulness and alacrity—where the least chance of a contest with the Enemy presented itself—that was enthusiastic, and which confers the highest honor on the whole Force.

To Brigadier General Steel I am most obliged for the warmest co-operation throughout this service.

vigilance to prevent surprise at any time they wished to attempt it; their attacks were chiefly directed against the Peguers, and on the night of the 8th a very spirited and well kept up assault was made upon them for about two hours.

Night after night gongs were sounding in different parts of the jungle, which, and their shouting, informed us where they were collecting their Troops. Several other determined assaults were made on various sides of the Pagoda, which were repelled by our guns and heavy file-firing, which drove them back. The last attack was made the day before the arrival of the Troops. On the morning in question (the 13th), at 20 minutes past 5 o'clock, under cover of a dense fog which hung over the ground below the Pagoda, a shout was suddenly heard, and a large body of men rushed across an open piece of ground on the S. E. angle of the stockade, which was the weakest point of the Peguers' position. A picquet which was always kept in readiness at the head of the steps immediately ran to their assistance; the men ranging themselves among the Peguers; and so determined was the attack that our Peguers and the Enemy had a hand-to-hand contest with their spears, and several were dangerously wounded, the picquets also using the bayonet at the same time. There must have been great loss on the part of the Enemy, as the ground was open both to our battery and the musketry from our walls, but as the fog hung over the low lands for some time after, they were able to convey away their dead, and only three or four were found killed close to the stockade.

In conclusion, I beg to say a few words in reference to the Officers and Men composing this Garrison.

Little that I can say with respect to the practical knowledge of Lieutenant Campbell, of the Bengal Engineers, which he has already gained on Field Service, could add to his reputation as a good service Officer, but his unrenitting zeal in planning and carrying out his suggestions has mainly contributed to the small loss sustained by the Troops.

Lieutenant James, of the Bengal Artillery, who was the only Artillery Officer I had to give directions for the working of the guns on the four angles of the Pagoda, has performed his arduous duties much to my satisfaction.

Lieutenant Harris, of the Madras Sappers, who has but recently joined that distinguished Corps, has proved himself to be a most efficient Sapper Officer, from the short time he took to finish the stockade for the Peguers, and the manner in which he executed a plan for a covered gallery to enable the water-carrier to supply the Troops with water with safety to themselves.

Lieutenant Dangerfield, of the First Madras Fusiliers, my Staff Officer, is an intelligent, enterprising, and most promising Officer, and I found I could entrust duties to him which required coolness and judgment with perfect confidence.

The Officers and Men, both European and Native, composing the Garrison, have performed their duties in a most admirable and satisfactory manner. The harassing duties all were exposed to for eight days and nights, without intermission, requires no further comment than by my adding that their constant vigilance and steadiness were conspicuous throughout the whole of the operations.

A Return of Killed and Wounded of the Troops, as well as of all other classes, accompanies this report:—

W. HILL, Major.

Pegu, the 18th December, 1852.

W. HILL, Major.

Commanding Pegu.

To Brigadier Dickenson, who was ever ready and anxious to render me his able assistance.

To Lieutenant Colonel Tator, who was very often called upon with his Regiment, the Bengal Fusiliers, to give parties for assaults, and on the day of my relieving the Garrison at Pegu I detached the Lieutenant Colonel to clear the road communicating with the landing-place on the river. The Lieutenant Colonel performed this duty most effectually, under a heavy fire.

To Captain Lutter, my Interpreter, who had the Guides always under his charge, and who was present everywhere with his usual gallantry.

To Major Armstrong, with his Sikhs, conspicuous wherever they were called upon.

To Majors Gerrard and Seaton of the Bengal Fusiliers; Captain Renaud, Commanding a Detachment of the Madras Fusiliers; Captain Munro, Commanding a Detachment of the 10th Bengal N. I.; Captain Hawkes, Brigade Major; Lieutenant Lambert, of the Bengal Fusiliers; Lieutenant Elliott, of the Madras Fusiliers; and Lieutenant Harris, of the Sappers, who rendered important assistance, I am much indebted.

The General Staff, Major Mayhew, Deputy Adjutant General, and Captain Hamilton, Assistant Adjutant General—Captain Burne, Military Secretary, and Captain Chads, Aide-de-Camp, I warmly thank; as also Major Neill, Assistant Adjutant General, and Major Atkinson, Assistant Quarter Master General, Madras Division, and Captains Dallas and Travers, Aides-de-Camp on the Staff of Brigadier General Steel, for their uncommon exertions during this service.

To Surgeons McCosh and Balfour and the Medical Department the Service is much indebted.

The short interval between the time I received the intelligence of the investment of Pegu from Captains Tarleton and Shadwell, and the embarkation of the Troops the same evening, when by 9 o'clock P. M. 1,400 men, with their material, were sent on board, under the eye of that valuable Officer Captain Tarleton, of the Royal Navy, till its disembarkation near Pegu and its re-embarkation on return here, was marked by wonderful exertion and arrangement, and that, with the aid and assistance I received from him with the men-of-war's boats, calls for every acknowledgment.

To Captain Shadwell I also feel greatly indebted for his assistance and exertions on this occasion.

I forward to the Governor General in Council the detailed account of the investment of Pegu by the Burmese Army, and the noble defence made by Major Hill and his brave garrison, for the Government to select what in its wisdom it may think proper to publish.

I have this morning received the gratifying information from Major Hill that some thousand families are coming in, and which I hope in a future Despatch to confirm positively. It is my intention to proceed to Prome in three days, and to take the field immediately. I am happy to say that the general health of the Troops here, as well as their conduct, is very satisfactory.

Extract from a Letter from Major Hill to Major Mayhew, dated 18th December 1852.

A termination to unremitting assaults from the Enemy from the 5th to the 14th instant having been brought about by the arrival of a reinforcement of Troops under the personal command of Major General Godwin, Commanding the Forces, I am now enabled to place before the Major General a detailed report of the operations during that period.

I do myself the honor to report for the Major General's information, that for some days previous to the Enemy appearing in our vicinity, several of their advanced posts were seen within 2 miles of us, in a Northerly direction. Elephants and gold umbrellas plainly indicated that their main Army was not far off, and as I had been informed that Moung Keya Soung commanded 10,000 men at Sheogyne, I felt it necessary to keep the Garrison alert, in case that portion of his Force which was then so near us might make a sudden descent upon the Garrison.

Shortly after 8 o'clock on the night of the 5th instant a few shots were fired by our sentries which were answered by the Enemy, and soon the firing became general. After 11 o'clock, as the moon rose the fire slackened and gradually ceased. Large bodies of Infantry were seen the next morning from the elevated post of the Pagoda moving in different directions, and from 150 to 200 Cassy Horsemen, and by $\frac{1}{2}$ past 9 o'clock A. M. a very heavy fire was opened upon the South-west angle of the Pagoda, immediately adjoining which I had stockaded in about 2,000 Peguers, with their families.

On the 3rd instant I was informed that for some distance to the Southward and Eastward a very large number of carts were approaching the Pagoda, and by sunset 216, filled mostly with women and children, besides a great many men, arrived and claimed British protection. I felt this to be a greater charge than defending the Garrison, having perfect confidence in the Troops; I resolved, therefore, on the following morning to draw the whole of the Peguers into a compact body under the walls of the Pagoda. Working parties from all the European and Native Troops in the Garrison with the Officers, besides every disposable public follower, were ready by 6 o'clock the following morning to clear away a top of large trees for their accommodation. Every one worked with such hearty goodwill that by mid-day every tree was felled, and the Sappers were in readiness, with the assistance of the Peguers, to make a stockade. By night-fall two sides of the stockades were completed, and the greater portion of the bundles brought within it, thus enabling the families to have both food and shelter in their carts.

The Enemy having taken up their position round us never left it until the day on which General Godwin relieved the Garrison. I believe I am speaking within bounds when I say there must have been fully 6,000 men regularly employed in investing the Pagoda, from the space they covered, and so near did they find safe cover from our fire that it became the more necessary to preserve the greatest Extract from a letter from Lieutenant Colonel W. M. N. Sturt, Commanding the Land Column, dated Pegu, the 19th December, 1852.

Leaving Rangoon on the morning of the 13th December, yesterday afternoon my Detachment came in sight of Pegu, and I moved my Camp only a short distance this morning towards the river, for the purpose of facilitating its crossing when necessary.

Aware of the value of Light Artillery and Cavalry in support of a movement against foes so difficult to be approached as the Burmese, it was my most earnest desire to have placed the services of these two Arms, composing a part of the Column under my Command, at Major General Godwin's disposal at the earliest possible period, and it was not therefore without a feeling of great regret I found my best exertions ineffectual to secure the above object, the General Commanding the Forces having left Pegu two days previous to my arrival.

The extent of country traversed by my Column, though not exceeding perhaps 72 miles, presented considerable obstacles to the rapid advance of Artillery and a long train of carriages with supplies for the Troops.

Three bridges were obliged to be constructed over tidal nullahs, marshy tracks to be rendered firm, roads to be cut, and their course even to be marked out by the friendly Karens.

These people, to the number of upwards of one hundred, made themselves very useful on the road, and the bridges were all constructed by them with a degree of good-will and promptness, much to the credit of the poor people. I beg to bring specially to the notice of the Major General the great assistance received from a Karen of much influence with his tribe, named Kyook-khé, who accompanied the Column the whole way from Rangoon.

After leaving Rangoon to our rear about 7 miles, the country began to disclose its plains, belted at distances by jungle. The course of the Column often lay closely skirting the jungles for miles, and frequently directly through them,—glades suddenly opening out, and again giving place to jungle.

Between Thoug-too-Loo, distant about 15 miles from Rangoon, and Theda-mu-thae, 19 miles from Pegu, nothing could exceed the richness of the soil; in some parts dark alluvial, in others sandy loam: the herbage was of the finest description, and where rice-crops were seen, their luxuriance and height were remarkable; the cattle, invariably in the finest condition, were of a very superior hardy breed, with large carcasses.

The space between Theda-mu-thae to within three or four miles of Pegu was found to be of a dense jungle description, forest-trees with low brush-wood and bamboos, clumps upon clumps forming the most formidable natural barriers and breastworks. Artillery and baggage-carts once having entered these narrow tracks, skirted on either side by such cover, without the possibility of counter-marching if required, could not possibly escape early destruction at the hands of a small body of resolute determined men, who would themselves be perfectly secure from pursuit. Where occasionally an opening occurred in this wild portion of the march, it presented a clear grass plain of some five, ten, fifteen, or more acres surrounded by the densest jungle. My Column was obliged to halt fifteen times during this march, which occupied the Troops ten hours and a half, and my baggage was not up till night.

Not an Enemy was seen throughout our whole course, though evidences of their having lately vacated these wilds were frequently observed.

NOTIFICATION.

FORT WILLIAM,

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT, THE 19TH MARCH, 1853.

THE Most Noble the Governor General in Council has much satisfaction in publishing for general information, Extracts of a Despatch from Brigadier General Steel, C. B., dated 24th February, in which he reports the occupation of Tounghoo by the force under his Command, and the expulsion of the Burmese Troops from the Eastern side of the Province.

Although the invariable retreat of the enemy before the force has afforded it little opportunity of proving its superiority in the field; yet its steady discipline, its forbearance from all excesses, and its alacrity in the performance of every duty, have well deserved the applause of the Governor General in Council, and command his confidence.

His Lordship in Council desires to convey to Brigadier General Steel his best thanks for the manner in which he has conducted the Expedition to its successful issue; as well as to the several Officers whom the Brigadier General has specially named in his Despatch.

And to all, officers, non-commissioned officers and soldiers, the Governor General in Council has to offer the assurance of his approbation.

By Order of the Most Noble the Governor General in Council,

C. ALLEN,

Officiating Secretary to the Government of India.

Extract of a Despatch from Brigadier General S. W. Steel, C. B., Commanding Marichon Column, dated Camp Tounghoo, the 23rd February, 1853, to C. Allen, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department.

My last Despatch, No. 18, dated the 16th instant, reported my having marched that day from Shany-Gyeen. Between that place and Kyook-Ghee, the villages were entirely deserted from fear of the Burmese; a few of the inhabitants stole in from the jungle, to communicate with us, they were supplied with copies of the Proclamation and encouraged to return to their homes.

The force arrived at Kyook-Ghee on the 17th instant, apparently before it was expected. No one had come out to meet us, and the few people outside of the Stockade looked in silent wonder at our approach across the fine running stream, which nearly surrounds the place. The highest authority in the town was an officer of inferior rank, called a "Thang", who opened the gates and accompanied us round the enclosure, pointing out the posts, and other things, of which a return is required. The stockade is on the same simple plan, and about the same size as before, but more ambushed. Safeguards were posted to prevent the possibility of the Burmese, reported to be within the camp and between, were admitted. Captain Chingman, an officer of the Assistant Quarter Master General's Department, had proceeded with an escort of two other troops, to reconnoitre the road. It was soon ascertained that some of the Chinthe who had left Kyaukse during the previous night, were but a short distance in front of the remainder of the force were immediately sent on under their Commanding Officer, Lieutenant Lambton, to join the escort in advance. They fell in with the main body at a number of camps loaded with families (women, children and baggage), about five miles from camp. There were with this party about 100 or more men, armed with muskets, spears and swords, and in the first encounter, before it was discovered that they did not intend to fire, two or three of the men were hurt. Two of the chief officers belonging to Kyaukse, with two "Theothays," or assistants to "Mounbwa," the Governor of Mandalay, were brought in. They had no desire to escape, but asserted that they had been forced by Mounbwa to accompany him. I permitted them all, according to their desire, to return and reside in the town of Kyaukse. Mounbwa, riding in a palanquin and constantly disguised, was not recognized, and escaped in the crowd. A Company of the 10th Burma Native Infantry, under Captain James, was sent out to escort the fugitives into the town, which were safely collected by the evening. Five elephants and twenty-five ponies were captured on this occasion.

The Force marched again the following morning, the 18th, and coming on without a fight, was able to pass the Sittoung River at Thantabin, by a march of 16 miles, on the 21st instant. On the opposite bank of the river, attended by a party of thirty men armed with muskets, a mounted officer was seen, who hailed the first of our avengers who entered the bed of the river, asking what we wanted, saying we were both great nations and ought not to be at war! He was informed in reply, that as he had any communication to make, he might come across the river; he declined this proposal very promptly, and shortly afterwards the whole party disappeared. I have since learned that he is named "Mounghay," an Officer of some rank, and that he resided direct to this city. The river, about 4 feet deep at the ford, with a rapid current, was passed yesterday, commencing at daybreak. The guns were all over the Troops crossing on the elephants, and the line of march formed on the right bank in order for the advance by 7 a. m. We were not far from the river, by two or three chief officers of this city, attended by a great number of the inhabitants, with offerings of flowers, and engaged in every way to assist the army. In evening, after a march of 16 miles, we arrived at a great town, surrounded by a high brick-wall, with solid ramparts, and outside by a broad wall, each face is considerably upwards of a mile in length. The town comprises but a small portion of an enclosure, temples, pyramids or monasteries, groves of lofty trees and extensive fruit gardens, are interspersed among large open spaces, in one of which the force is now encamped. There is also a large natural tank. In the evening, the guns and ammunition were moved, of which a return is enclosed. The wall is of very ancient date, and the place is untenable as a fortified independence, on its vast size, from the extensive dilapidation of the wall in many places, and the weakness caused by the exposed position of all the wooden gates; the latter have been greatly injured within the last three months, and attempts recently made to repair the fallen wall.

The information given on my arrival here, was, that Mounbwa and other chiefs were preparing to retreat, on account of a forced march, as they had only commenced their retreat by the night of the 16th. As on the report brought by "Mounghay" at noon the previous day of his seeing them within 9 miles of them. I was therefore induced to permit the detachment of Bhamineh, consisting of 1000 men, under Lieutenant Lambton, to proceed on their track, accompanied as Volunteers by Captain Lambton, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General, Captain Chingman and Lieutenant Maxwell, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General, and by my A. D. C. Captain Travers. A very energetic pursuit was undertaken, and continued for more than 20 miles, it was given up on finding that the flying chiefs were at least 10 miles in advance, and the horses unfit for farther rapid movement. They returned to camp at 10 p. m. I may therefore venture to state, that that part of the proclamation, promulgated on the 26th of December last, which asserted that "such Burmese troops as may still remain within the Province shall be driven out," had been executed to the very letter by the 22nd instant. On that day the last of the broken forces of the Burmese Army was driven beyond the summit of its conquest. The establishment of civil Government will immediately follow; the Commission appointed to these Provinces having been expected at Sittay-gyee by the 20th instant.

The history notes which I received, on being honored with the command of the force, to advance from Mandalay, having been fully carried out, I trust I may be permitted to bring to the consideration of the Most Noble the Governor General of India in Council, the exemplary conduct of the troops employed, in that country, passing through a country never before traversed by a disciplined Army, by

FORT WILLIAM.

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT, THE 22ND APRIL, 1853.

THE Most Noble the Governor General in Council has much satisfaction in publishing for general information, Extracts from Despatches, reporting the operations of Brigadier General Sir John Cheape, K. C. B., against the force under Myat-too, who had established himself near to Donabaw.

The Governor General in Council regards with the highest admiration the gallantry, perseverance, and cheerful endurance displayed by the force under the Brigadier General's Command, throughout a service which was rendered peculiarly severe, not more by the formidable resistance that was offered than by the sufferings incident to prolonged exposure in pestilential jungle, and at such a time.

His Lordship in Council, regretting the loss that has been incurred, fully appreciates the service that has been done, and he requests the Major General Commanding the Troops in Ava, to convey to Brigadier General Sir John Cheape, to the Officers and Soldiers, whom he has specially named, and to all who were under his command, the approbation and cordial thanks of the Supreme Government.

By Order of the Most Noble the Governor General of India in Council,

C. ALLEN, .

Officiating Secretary to the Government of India

Extract from a letter from Major General H. Godwin, C. B., Commanding Forces in Ava, Irracan, and the Tenasserim Provinces, to C. Allen, Esquire, Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department. Dated the 1st April, 1853, No. 37.

SIR,

I have the honor to forward, for the information of the Governor General in Council, reports from Sir J. Cheape, dated the 13th and 25th ultimo, detailing the proceedings of his Force since the report of the 3d ultimo, forwarded in my despatch, No. 36, of the 15th ultimo.

The Governor General in Council will see and appreciate this most arduous service; particularly as it has been from time to time by the difficult nature of the country, acted to which, unwitting, if not false guides, leading him in wrong directions.

The Brigadier General so forcibly represents his various attacks, and the gallantry of the Troops on every occasion, that I can add nothing more than my high sense and appreciation of their admirable conduct.

Extract from a Despatch from Brigadier General Sir J. Chespe, K. C. B., Commanding Bengal Division, to the Deputy Adjutant General Army of Ava—Prome.

Dated Donabew, 25th March, 1853.

While at Kyomtano I ascertained the jungle to the Westward to be quite impenetrable and that there were only two routes to Kyomnazeen, one to the Southward via Gyet-thoun-zem, and the other to the Northward, by Ngyoung-youn; the distance by these routes was said to be about equal, and the same opposition and obstacles were to be expected by either. I resolved to follow the latter route.

It was desirable to give the Enemy as little time as possible for preparation, and on the evening of the 17th instant, at 2 p. m., I sent on the Right Wing, under Major Wigstone, 18th R. L., consisting of H. M.'s 18th R. L. Regiment, H. M.'s 80th Regiment and the 4th Sikh Local Regiment, with a detachment of Sappers and some rockets, to take post at a breastwork about three miles in advance, in the middle of the forest, and on the verge of a large lake. It was of importance to clear the road so far, to enable the Force to march early next morning without waiting for the fog to clear off.

Major Wigstone found the road clear till within about a mile of the breastwork; he had then cut his way through many obstructions, and to open the road round felled trees and to clear away abattis. On reaching the breastwork, he found it occupied, and it was most gallantly carried by the 18th R. L., who were leading, and by the 4th Sikh Local Regiment in support: several Jugalls and arms of different sorts were captured. Major Armstrong, 4th Sikh Local Regiment, on this occasion personally distinguished himself, and I beg to send a copy of Major Wigstone's letter, of date the 20th instant, reporting most favorably of the conduct of the Troops. A prisoner was taken upon this occasion, who was of some use in our further advance in describing and pointing out the Enemy's position.

Major Wigstone bivouacked here for the night and was undisturbed; and early next morning (the 18th instant) I moved on with the Force from Kyomtano, carrying seven days' provisions. We passed M. Wigstone's party, and moved with our Left Wing, under Lieutenant-Colonel Sturt, consisting of H. M.'s 51st R. O. L. I., and the 67th B. N. I. in front, followed by the guns and Irregular Cavalry, and leaving the Right Wing to bring up the rear and to furnish the rear guard.

As the road was greatly obstructed and the progress slow, I took the opportunity to send back to Kyomtano with some Irregulars, the sick and wounded of Major Wigstone's party; the escort remained as again with the empty doolies.

After going about two miles through forest and passing breastworks from which only an occasional shot was fired, our guides, instead of going further by the road we had traversed on the 17th instant, turned sharp off to the left; along this path the obstructions and felled trees continued for another mile, and the road was so rough that one of the ammunition waggon was overturned and the pole broken; it was necessary to leave it, and the ammunition boxes were packed on spare packhorses.

We arrived at noon at a piece of water on our right, where I halted for an hour to refresh the men, and at 1 p. m., we moved on; the obstructions were very great, and it occupied about two hours getting a mile further: there was some firing also, and the Enemy were reported to be in a position close at hand.

We at last had a very sharp fire opened on us from the left. A fire had been lighted in that quarter to obscure the vision, and the whole place was obstructed and entangled with abattis in front and along the left; part of the 67th B. N. I. with the Rifles engaged the Enemy to the left, and we managed to clear the path to the front so as to advance the 51st R. O. L. I., and to bring the guns and rockets to bear upon the Enemy, whose position, however, was so covered and hidden that we could only judge of it from the direction of the fire on our Troops.

The road or path was at length sufficiently cleared and the charge was ordered; the breastwork was first gallantly carried by H. M.'s 51st R. O. L. I., and the 67th B. N. I. Captain Singleton, 67th Regiment, leading the advance. Ensign Bebeau, of the 67th B. N. I., was, I regret to say, killed while gallantly attacking the Enemy on our left flank.

The Enemy's loss I was unable to ascertain, but his Force here consisted of 1,000 men, with one gun, which was carried off, and Myat-toon was present in person. This I learned from a prisoner who was taken.

We lost no time in following up the Enemy, but after proceeding along an open road for about a mile, I thought it advisable, it being nearly 5 p. m., to halt at a piece of water Ngyoung-Kyung, said to be distant about three miles from Kyomtano, but with a heavy jungle intervening, in which the Enemy were reported to be in force.

At 8 p. m. I fired, at the request of Captain Smith, Deputy Commissioner (then signal rockets for the information of Captain Fyche, who had promised to co-operate to the Westward and Northward of Kyomnazeen: they were replied to by guns, and during the night, on the report that the Enemy were felling trees close in our front, a few shot and shells were fired at them, with good effect I believe.

On the morning of the 19th instant, at 7 a. m., we moved on, the Right Wing leading and the Left Wing in rear of the Artillery. H. M. 80th Regiment formed the advance guard, and was followed by the Sappers clearing the road; the Enemy's position was described as being at Kyomnazeen, the head of the piece of water on our right, and along the edge of which or very near it lay the breastwork. I expected to find the Enemy posted on the opposite flank, and that we should have to come under a flanking fire before being able to reach his right and turn the position where the nullah is dry; it did not seem reasonable to expect that his left flank would be found unprotected and I, therefore, did not think it worth while to pass a party across the water to try that flank; it would have been vain.

As I afterwards found that an extensive and impassable marsh, though invisible from our side, covered his left flank; the forest was so dense on our left that to cut a new road direct from the nullah entirely round the Enemy's right, would have been very laborious, and would have occupied a very long time, and the sickness amongst our troops had become so alarming that great danger would have arisen from the delay. I was almost unwilling to diverge from the path our guides led us; there had been already so much uncertainty and difficulty about finding the road, that it seemed the safest plan to get at the Enemy as speedily as we could, and I trusted to a rapid advance, supported by our guns and rockets, and relied on carrying the Enemy's breastwork on the right the moment we should reach it.

On coming opposite his left flank, the firing commenced, and here our rockets were advanced and opened fire; the 4th Sikh Local Regiment were sent on to support the 80th Regiment, and the 18th Royal Irish in support of them; the Sappers worked away at the path, which was much entangled with wood, and the guns were shortly got into position and opened the firing line, however, became very heavy, and it was reported to me that Major Wigstone was wounded. On reaching the front, I found that Major Armstrong was also wounded, as well as many other Officers and men, and that the fire of the Enemy on the path leading up to the breastwork was so heavy, that our advanced party had not succeeded in carrying it: the most strenuous exertions were made, and Lieutenant Johnson, the only remaining Officer of the 4th Sikh Local Regiment, persevered most bravely, but it only increased the loss. The 80th and Sikhs then went on in the hopes of getting round the extreme right of the Enemy; the jungle, however, was so thick, and the abatis so strong, that our men got dispersed, and could not get through it.

It was at this point that the 18th Royal Irish came up, and the fire of musketry and grape was so heavy that they also got scattered and sustained great loss. Lieutenant Cockburn was wounded. I was here joined by Major Holdich, now in command of the Right Wing.

Although it was difficult from the dense smoke, and under so heavy a fire, to discern exactly what was between us and the breastwork to be assailed, I succeeded at last in ascertaining that there was no water, and no obstacle that could not be easily surmounted, if the Troops could pass through the Enemy's fire, a distance of only 20 or 30 yards. The "assembly" was accordingly sounded, with a view of getting together as many men of the Right Wing as could be collected.

In the mean time Major Reid, of the Artillery, brought up in the most gallant manner his 24-pounder howitzer. It was dragged through the bushes by the hand, chiefly by men of the 51st Regiment, and opened within 25 yards of the Enemy with marked effect; it was, however, in a much exposed position, and I regret to say Major Reid was almost immediately wounded: the fire from this gun was kept up in the most spirited manner by Lieutenant Ashe.

Finding the Right Wing much weakened from the loss they had sustained, and the number of men it was necessary to employ as skirmishers on the bank of the nullah, for the purpose of keeping down the Enemy's fire, I ordered a reinforcement from the Left Wing, they were joined by the men of the Right Wing that had been collected by Major Holdich, and who were led by Ensign Wolsely, and the whole advanced in a manner that nothing could check. The fire was severe, and I am grieved to say, that gallant young Officer Lieutenant Taylor, 9th M. N. I., doing duty with H. M.'s 51st K. O. L. I., fell mortally wounded. Ensign Wolsely, H. M.'s 80th Regiment, was also struck down, as well as many other gallant soldiers: but the breastwork was at once carried, and the Enemy fled in confusion, the few who stood being shot or bayoneted on the entrance of our men.

Lieutenant Trevor, of the Engineers, with Corporal Livingstone and Private Preston, of H. M.'s 51st K. O. L. I., first entered the Enemy's breastwork, the two former each shooting down one of the Enemy exposing their entrance. The lead devolved on them, and on Sergeant Preston, of H. M.'s 51st K. O. L. I., and Sergeant Major Quin, of H. M.'s 80th, when Lieutenant Taylor, Ensign Wolsely and Color Sergeant Dunbar fell in the advance.

Our two guns which fell into the Enemy's hands on the 4th of last month, were here recaptured; they had been fired with most deadly effect, and were well served to the last: in attempting to carry off one of them 12 men were left dead by a discharge from our 9-pounder gun.

The Enemy sustained, I understand, a heavy loss in killed and wounded. His whole force and means were concentrated in this position, and I imagine he must have had about 4,000 men in these breastworks, which extended 1,200 yards in length.

The Chief, I am sorry to say, escaped, but I lost no time in sending on Major Cotton, of the 67th N. I., with 100 men of his own Regiment and 100 of the 51st K. O. L. I., under Captain Irby, to Kyomtan, about two miles distant. Here they found Captain Fytche on the opposite bank of the nullah.

Myat-toon's Force being broken up and dispersed, it remained for Captain Fytche and Captain Smith, the Deputy Commissioners, to take measures for his pursuit and apprehension. Parties of Captain Fytche's Karens were immediately detached for the purpose; the report brought in stated that he was moving about with merely a few followers in different quarters, and a number of his principal followers surrendered themselves.

The inhabitants, of whom there was a very large number, probably 10 to 20 thousand, had concealed themselves in the jungle, but began to come in on the 20th, and under directions from Captain Fytche commenced to move off, with such property as they had, in boats, of which there were an immense number in the creek or nullah.

He had given them notice of his intention to burn the place down immediately on our leaving it.

On the morning of the 20th Captain Tarleton, R. N., to whom I had forwarded information on the previous day of our having forced Myat-toon's position, arrived at Kyomtan with several boats. He had been long laying at the mouth of the creek with steamers and gun-boats to cut off Myat-taon's retreat in that direction.

His co-operation was now most valuable, and the exertions of his Officers and men must have been very great, in cutting through felled trees thrown across a narrow nullah, and in removing stakes and obstructions of every description impeding the passage along a distance of 15 miles.

Difficulties and impediments seemed to vanish before him and his boats' crews, and by 1 p. m. of the 21st we had a sufficient number of the boats found in the nullah prepared for the conveyance of our sick and wounded men and of our Artillery. The whole started off, were shipped on board the steamer on the following morning, and entered up to Donabew the same day; every bad case of the sick and wounded being transhipped to the "Pholegethon" on passing Yandoon, which vessel was dispatched to Rangoon. Such dispatch, under no ordinary difficulties, seems to me well worthy of being recorded.

We reached Kyontano on the night of the 22nd, and Akyo, on the following day, and on the evening of the 24th, the whole Force, with baggage and stores, had arrived at Donabew.

I grieve to say the sickness was very great from cholera, in particular at Kyontano. A Return is appended of the loss we have sustained from sickness as well as in engagements with the Enemy.

A Return of the captured ordnance is also forwarded. The guns and rocket tube belonging to the steamers have been made over to Captain Tarleton.

I propose to embark immediately with the whole of the troops, and return to Prome. Such of the men as cannot be conveyed in the steamers, will proceed in country boats.

I trust the manner in which the service has been performed, will be approved of by the Major General;—Myat-taon's Force has been dispersed and scattered; his guns taken and his strongholds and villages, containing his supplies and resources, burnt down, and the population removed; he himself is a fugitive and an outlaw; and although he will probably be joined by some of the worst and most desperate characters amongst his former followers, he will never be able to regain his former importance and power, and will no doubt, ere long, be captured by the exertions and vigilance of the Civil Authorities.

On the conclusion of this service it is my duty to bring to the notice of the Major General the excellent conduct of the Troops.

Major Reid and the Officers and men of the Artillery, have rendered the most efficient service during the whole of the operations, and the brave and gallant manner in which the guns were brought forward and worked on the 19th instant, will, I trust, receive the especial notice of the Major General.

To Lieutenant McGrath, who was slightly wounded, and Lieutenants Ashe and Dobbin, my acknowledgments are due for their gallant conduct, and also to Mr. Conductor Lisby, who was always in advance with the rockets, which he fired on every occasion with such precision and effect as to be of essential service to us; he was, I am grieved to say, very severely wounded after firing almost his last rocket on the 19th instant; he may, I trust, recover, and I would recommend him most strongly to the Major General's notice and the favor of Government.

To Lieutenant Mullins, and the Detachment of Madras Sappers and Miners, the greatest praise is due; the work executed by the men was most laborious, and the zeal and talent with which their energies were directed by Lieut. Mullins, are most creditable to him. He was ably seconded by Lieut. Trevor, and I am mainly indebted to these Officers and the men under them for enabling the Troops to reach the enemy's position.

To Lieut. Col. Sturt, Commanding the Left Wing of the Force, and to Major Wigstone, Commanding the Right Wing, my best acknowledgments are due, for the aid I have received from them, and for the gallant manner in which they brought their Troops into action.

I beg to bring to the Major General's notice Major Holdich, H. M.'s 80th Regiment, Major Cotton, 67th N. I.; Major Armstrong, 4th Sikh Local Regiment, Captain Ishy, H. M.'s 51st K. O. L. I., and Captain Armstrong, of H. M.'s 18th R. I. Regiment, and the Officers and men of the Detachments under their respective Commands: the whole of them behaved with great gallantry, and are entitled to my best acknowledgments.

My best thanks are due to Captain Bruce, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General, for the able manner in which he has performed his duties, and for the assistance he has afforded me on every occasion.

To Captain Garden, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General, I have to tender my acknowledgments, for the very efficient aid I have received from him in his department, the duties of which have been very arduous.

I would bring to the notice of the Major General Lieutenant Pilmer, H. M.'s 51st K. O. L. I. Brigade Quarter Master 1st Madras Brigade, who, by permission, accompanied this Expedition. He has rendered the most essential service to the Force, in carrying orders and in seeing them executed, in many cases of emergency and urgency, and has undergone great fatigue and shown much zeal for the service. He is a most able Staff Officer, and I would recommend him strongly to the Major General's notice.

Lieutenant Thompson, my Aide-de-Camp, has been of the greatest service to me, and has shown great intelligence as well as displayed great gallantry, and I would recommend him strongly to the notice and favor of the Major General.

To Surgeon Andrews, 67th N. I., and the Medical Department, I have to return my best thanks for the performance of their very arduous duties in the care of the sick and wounded; and to Assistant Surgeon Murphy, Staff Surgeon to the Division, in particular, my special thanks are due: he was the senior Medical Officer until the arrival of the reinforcements from Rangoon, and all the arrangements made by him have been most perfect. On the 19th instant, the wounded men were attended to by him under a very heavy fire, and though wounded (I am happy to say very slightly), it did not deter him a moment from the zealous discharge of his duties; he has performed them throughout in the most unwearied and able manner, accompanying the men in the boats to the steamers, and seeing them carefully attended to, and disposed of: I consider the Force fortunate indeed in having a Medical Officer, of his talent and character in such trying circumstances, and I feel assured the Major General will accord his approbation of the services of this Officer.

The deficiency in the Commissariat Department was supplied from Rangoon, Lieutenant McKellar being sent from thence. The duties have been most ably and creditably performed by this Officer, and the Force, ever since his arrival, has been most regularly and amply supplied with provisions, although under circumstances of great difficulty from want of transport. His very efficient subordinate, Mr. Conductor Horton, I am grieved to say, died on the march from Kyomtano, on the 18th instant, of cholera, brought on, I fear, by over exertion and fatigue in the discharge of his duties. He was a most energetic Officer, and is a loss to the service.

Captain Smith, the Deputy Commissioner, has accompanied the Force throughout this Service, and has been most zealous in obtaining for us every aid the country could supply.

The co-operation of the Naval Force has been most effective, and has conducted greatly to the success of the Expedition; and I feel deeply indebted to Commodore Lambert and to Captain Tarleton, and his Officers and men, for the aid and assistance they have so promptly given us on every opportunity or occasion of difficulty.

Return of Killed and Wounded of the Expeditionary Force under Brigadier General Sir John Cheape, K. C. B., from 27th February to 19th March, 1853.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

THE 6TH JUNE, 1853.

NOTIFICATION.

Notice is hereby given, that all the 5 per Cent Promissory Notes of this Government of 1825-26, which have not been already advertized for payment and are still outstanding, as also all the 5 per Cent Promissory Notes of 1829-30, will be discharged at the General Treasury on the 1st of September next, on which day the interest thereon will cease.

Any of the Notes however hereby advertised for payment may be tendered to the Subscribers at Fort William, Fort St. George and Bombay, to the several Residents, Collectors and other public Officers authorized to receive subscriptions to Government loans, and exchanged for acknowledgments of subscription to the 4 per Cent loan of 1842-43.

These acknowledgments, together with the Promissory Notes for which they may have been issued, shall, without fee or expense of any kind to the Proprietors, be transmitted to the Deputy Accountant General at Calcutta, who will forthwith cause to be prepared and issued to the parties entitled thereto, Promissory Notes in the 4 per Cent Loan of 1842-43.

Prompt settlement of principal and interest at the rate of 5 per Cent per annum to the date of advertized discharge will be made with Proprietors, who may tender their Notes for transfer to the 4 per Cent loan of 1842-43; provided however that interest at the rate of 4 per Cent shall be allowed only from the date advertized for the discharge of the 5 per Cent Notes.

The fractional amount necessary to convert any Note into one of even hundreds in Company's Rupees at the present rate of 16 Company's for 15 Sica Rupees, will be either paid to or received from the Proprietor at his option.

It is further notified that, for the accommodation of Proprietors, who not being resident in India, and who have not furnished full powers to their Agents to receive the principal amount to be paid, the Most Noble the Governor General of India in Council has authorized the Deputy Accountant General to allow the conditional transfer of their Notes to the 4 per Cent Loan of 1842-43, leaving it optional with the Proprietors to confirm the transfer or to require payment in cash; provided however that no notice disallowing a transfer will be received after six months from the present date.

Published by order of the Most Noble the Governor General of India in Council.
